Structure of the Updated Implementation Guide

Strategic planning

This section covers the characteristics of a strategic plan and outlines its development in two steps: (1) establishing a core group, and (2) conducting a national assessment.

Mechanisms for implementation This section outlines potential institutional set-ups, such as the steering committee and the implementation/technical groups that are needed for successful implementation of SEEA. It also features examples from countries on their institutional mechanisms.

Compiling an disseminating accounts This section covers data sources; compilation of the accounts by the technical committee; different user groups and the dissemination products they need; collaboration with line ministries/research institutions; additional resources and activities to support implementation; and some specific compilation and dissemination issues most relevant to SEEA EA.

Mainstreaming the SEEA This section focuses on the legal mandates for regular production of SEEA accounts, formalization of mechanisms between institutions, funding mechanisms, and how to move from piloting to regular production. It also presents a few examples from countries on these issues.

Institutional mechanism

- Need to consider country circumstances: no one approach that fits all
- Aim is to have a set up in place that allows for the regular production of the accounts
